Again Doing Things in London

PRISON SENTENCES DO NOT DISMAY 'EM

TRIED TO ASSAIL BRITISH PREMIER

Force of Constables Stave Off
Rush of London Suffragets.

RED PEPPER WOMEN'S WEAPON

Annual Meeting of the Labor Party
In the British Capital Broken Up by the Suffragists, Who Were There
With a Flood of Interruptions—Cost of Insurance on Plate Glass To Be Raised.

London, Jan. 30.—Undismayed by jail sentences, a number of suffragets
followed Premier Asquith to Leven,
in Fifeshire, and continued their milittant tactics outside of a hall in which the premier was addressing his constituents. A strong cordon of constables was drawn around the hall, and against this the militant suffragets dashed wildly, but in vain. One of them was prepared against repulse.
She had paper containing red pepper which she blew into the faces of the officers who opposed her. She was arrested.

The situation is so tense that the suffragets are beginning to fall out with their friends. They broke up the annual meeting of the Labor party, held in London. This organization has been siding with the women, and a flood of interruptions occurred while George Henry Roberts, member of parliament from Norwich, was addressing the meeting. The women wanted to know what the party was going to do about votes for women and why the present ministry had not been turned out. Interrupters were ejected from the meeting.

The cost of insurance on plate glass
will be raised, the insurance companies say, if the suffragets continue their depredations.

A woman threw a hammer through a plate glass window, worth $750, belonging to the Hamburg-American Steamship company's offices.

Threaten Hunger Strike.

Of the 30 suffragets sentenced, 29 continue to declare that they will put the prison officials through the drill
of handling a "hunger strike."

Mrs. Leppard, sister of John French,
the famous cavalry general, was fined $10 or given her choice of two weeks in jail. She took the two weeks, but some unknown person paid her fine
and the prison officials thrust her from the jail against her protests.
She is the only woman arrested Tuesday who is not serving her time, except Sylvia Pankhurst, who, disregarding her statement of the day before that the violence was just beginning, promised to be good until her case is tried.

Mrs. Drummond, the "general" of the rioters, a woman of years and bulk, went to jail with the others promising to starve, scornfully refusing to pay a $10 fine.

Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst is reported to have left her Paris rooms, where she fled when a warrant for her arrest was issued in England for her militant methods. She is called the brains of the present movement and it is thought she may be hiding in London, directing the present activities of her co-thinkers.

Fedists Wreck Store.

Berea, O., Jan. 30.—An explosion,
believed to be the result of a feud,
destroyed William Zacharyasz's general store here, with a loss of $15,000.
Zacharyasz and his wife leaped 20 feet to the ground to escape the flames that had destroyed the staircase.

Hide Dope in Camp Stools.

Sing Sing, N. Y.—Warden John S.
Kennedy has just discovered that camp stools have been the means by which the drug fiends in Sing Sing
have been receiving cocaine, morphine
and opium.

Friends of the convicts have been allowed to provide them with the seats, and the warden learned that many of the stools had holes bored in the legs,
in which quantities of drugs were concealed. A single stool was found to contain enough dope to supply a man for a year. Hereafter the prison will purchase its own stools.

LITTLE CLASH ON THE EFFECT

HOGAN AT ISSUE WITH GOVERNOR

Holds Supreme Court Ruling Does Not Impair Smith Tax Law.

TAX COMMISSION TO CONTRARY

Attorney General Claims Absolute Limitation Would Make the One Per Cent Law Unconstitutional—Judge
Dithey of the Taxation Board Positive Court Decision Has Ruined the Act—What the Governor Said.

Columbus, O., Jan. 30.—There is a variance of opinion on the question whether the Smith 1 per cent tax law stands shorn of the purpose for which it was intended, as the result of the ruling of the supreme court.

Governor Cox and many others regard the court's decision as a death blow to the Smith law. The governor transmitted a message to the assembly in which he urged speedy action in amending the law so that it would provide what the people have supposed they have had, a tax limitation of 15 mills. Supporting the views of the governor are members of the state tax commission.

Judge R. M. Ditty of the state tax commission declared that the supreme court's ruling completely destroyed the intent of the Smith law and threw down the bars for any rate of taxation on the present large duplicates.

Hogan's Opinion.

Opposed to the views of Governor Cox is Attorney General Hogan, who declared that the supreme court's ruling does not impair or emasculate
the Smith law as to a single one of its intents. "The fact of the case is that the decision saves the law," asserts the attorney general. In Mr.
Hogan's opinion the Smith law stands in more danger from attempts by the legislature to amend or strengthen its provisions than from any decision by the supreme court.

The attorney general says: "To sus-tain the constitutionality of the Smith law itself required the recognition of the right on behalf of any taxing district to take care of its lawfully created obligations. Were the court to limit the taxing districts to the 15
mills, the Smith act would undoubtedly be unconstitutional. In my judgment, the Smith 1 per cent law is not only not in danger in the decision of the supreme court in the Roosevelt case, but when the decision is looked at rightly the constitutionality of the act and the beneficial effects of the act, as well as the purposes of the act, are fully sustained."

In accordance with the governor's message, an amendment is being prepared which will have for its intent
the placing of a maximum levy of 15
mills for all purposes, including interest and sinking fund.

What Cox Said.

In his message to the legislature
the governor said:

"Pursuant to the duty imposed upon the executive by the constitution with respect to communicating information on 'the condition of the state,' I respectfully call your attention to a condition developed by a decision of the supreme court of Ohio, rendered Jan.
28, 1913.

NARROW BUT SAFE MARGIN WINS OUT

SECOND SHORT BALLOT BILL PUT THROUGH

Dairy and Food Commissioner
To Be Appointive Office.

Columbus, O., Jan. 30.—By a narrow margin the house passed the Young bill to make the state dairy and food commissioner an appointive officer instead of an elective one. The huge Democratic majority dwindled to a margin of two more than necessary to pass the bill. It passed by a vote of 66 to 53, 20 Democrats voting in the negative. The Republicans sharply criticized the administration program of pushing through the short ballot bills in advance of other measures.

As substitute for the Jenkins probe resolution, Representative Fulton offered a resolution for a joint committee probe of state departments, the committee of six to make a survey of the work of the various departments with a view of combining positions and generally reorganizing the state service. It was referred to the fees and salaries committee.

The house adopted Senator Green's resolution to investigate office rental by state departments.

Representative Lowry of Henry introduced the administration primary election bill. In its final shape it provides for a state convention of each party in presidential years, the delegates to which are to be elected by primary, and a state convention the midyear between presidential years to be made up of the candidates on the state ticket who have been chosen by primary and the state central committee. The state conventions will merely draft platforms.

Representative Smith Welsh of Ottawa led a successful fight of two hours by the small counties which defeated the original purpose of the Reppert bill, to give election officers
in Cuyahoga and Hamilton counties,
outside Cleveland and Cincinnati, $10
a day, and made it provide only $5
a day for general elections and $3 for special elections for all election officers in the state outside registration cities.

New York Attorney General in Letter to the Widow of the Famous Confederate Fighter, Declares Expressions of Sympathy Will Not Inter-

the Aged General.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 30. — Attorney General Carmody made it plain in a letter to Mrs. Helen D. Longstreet, the widow of the famous Confederate general, that the sympathetic appeals which have been made in behalf of General Sickles will not interfere with the state's case or the efforts of the attorney general to prosecute the aged general, until the general has made good the $23,476 deficit in the funds of the state monuments commission, of which he was chairman.

"New York appreciates her heroes,"
the letter of Attorney General Carmody said, "and feels humiliated at the spectacle which this case presents. New York state also respects her laws and seeks to enforce them in a spirit of equality to all."

Twin Deer and Their Mother, Born In Captivity In America

TWIN always arouse interest. If Johnny and Jimmie are born as like as two peas in a pod all the good mothers in the neighborhood go nearly daffy with curiosity. So you can't in the least blame the folks who earn a living amusing others at the New York Hippodrome for feeling very proud of the twin deer born there last October. The picture shows just how they look now with their mother, one of sixteen Scotch highland deer brought to this country. It is said to be one of the few times twin deer were ever born in captivity in this country. The little animals are like all twins, just "the sweetest things ever."

TAFT PAYS A TRIBUTE TO OHIO

RAINBOW DOWN IN OHIO

President Taft's Toast at Dinner On McKinley's Birthday.

Washington, Jan. 30.—"The Rainbow Comes Down in Ohio," was the toast to which President Taft announced at the third annual dinner of the Ohio Society of Washington, giving to his honor here. The occasion of the dinner was the anniversary of the birth of the late President McKinley, who was eulogized by each of the speakers. The dinner was given in honor of the president as a farewell to him as president and as a citizen of Ohio, inasmuch as New Haven, Conn., will be his home after March 4.

The dinner was preceded by a reception. The president was identified with Ohio on the program party as one of the Cincinnati law school,
which chair he held for several years
before going on the federal bench.
Speaker Clark and former Speaker Cannon both spoke as members of the council of that school, and Senator Sherene of Canton, O., also an alumnus of the school, spoke of McKinley as a citizen. Senator Burton spoke on the achievements of the administration.

The president spoke at some length
on the obligation of the American government to continue as trustee to the Philippine people until they are ready for self-government.

Speaker Clark said he had no distinction to make a Philippine speech.
"I wish we were out of there in good shape as when we got in,"
he said.

Lincoln Memorial Bill

Washington, Jan. 30.—After a prolonged fight the house passed the bill providing for the construction in Washington of an edifice of Greek design as a memorial to Abraham Lincoln. The bill making appropriations for the maintenance of the government of the District of Columbia was passed.

EIGHT THOUSAND WITNESS THE WORK OF IMPERIAL STAFF

Memorial Hall, Columbus, Packed to Suffocation Point By Enthusiastic Odd Fellows.

SUPERB WORK APPLAUDED FROM START TO FINISH

Beautiful Story of David and Jonathan Vividly Portrayed. Local Staff Wins New Laurels in Greatest Odd Fellow Meeting Ever Held in Ohio---Class of 150 Initiated.

By Hugh C. Weir.

Crouched behind an overhanging rock on a lonely hill side of Judah, a young man three thousand years ago anxiously scanned the horizon for a signal that was either to send him into exile, a hunted fugitive with a price on his head, or which was to summon him to honors and riches at the great court of King Saul. The young man was David of Israel, the most romantic figure in all Biblical history, the shepherd boy who with a sling and stone had slain the nine-foot giant, Goliath of Gath, and saved Israel from slavery to the Philistines. Instead of enjoying the reward for his heroic action, however, he was fleeing from the wrath of King Saul, who forgetting his promises to the boy-deliverer of his nation viewed him with a jealous fury in the fear that the power of the lad would over-shadow his own position. Such, indeed, was his jealousy that he cried out for the death of the young shepherd of the hills, and David had been forced to hide for his life.

The youthful saviour of Israel, however, was not without a friend perhaps the truest friend in all the chronicle of human history—Jonathan, eldest prince of the royal line, whom the nation had viewed as Saul's logical successor. Although he knew that should David live, the shepherd lad would constitute his greatest rival to the throne and that his hopes of being king would vanish, Jonathan placed his love for David above even his own advancement, and promised to steal forth from his father's place and warn the fugitive in the hills of Saul's purpose toward him. And he had found that the king's purpose was not forgiveness but death, that David's safety depended on immediate flight.

In the distance, David saw Jonathan and his servant appear, armed with bows and arrows, and obviously on a hunting trip. Pausing at the foot of the hill, Jonathan shot three arrows to the right of David's rock of concealment, the signal that death threatened. It was the signal that saved David's life, that lost Jonathan a throne. An hour later, the soldiers of Saul were scouring the hill. Jonathan sacrificed a kingdom that he might be true to his brother-in-arms. Never has the world been given a more impressive illustration of the loyalty of friendship.

Last night at Memorial hall in Columbus, eight thousand Odd Fellows saw the drama of David and Jonathan re-enacted—breathed again after the lapse of three thousand years the inspiration of that thrilling example of brotherhood. The scene was acted as part of the wonderful exemplification of friendship by the famous degree team of Temple Lodge No. 227 of Washington C. H. When the men of Fayette finished their two hours' portrayal of scenes from the life of David, the great throng at Memorial hall—the largest fraternal gathering in the history of central Ohio—sprang to their feet in a burst of plaudits that echoed and re-echoed through the building. Never before had such an ovation been tendered a degree team in Odd Fellowship. Two weeks before in the same building, I saw the demonstration given Governor Cox at the inaugural ball. Even the applause given Ohio's new executive was completely overwhelmed by the reception earned by the seventy-five members of the Imperial Degree staff of Washington C. H.

In the crowd of spectators filling the monster auditorium were delegations from all over Ohio, even from neighboring states, and men representing some of the greatest fraternal offices in the United States. Without exception, they hailed the degree staff of old Fayette as presenting the most impressive and most significant fraternal exemplification they had ever seen.

Today Washington C. H. occupies a new place in the map of Ohio. After last night at Memorial hall, it will be a household word in Buckeye fraternity. No other body of men has done so much to center the eyes of the state and nation on this community, in such a spirit of tribute as the degree staff of Temple lodge.

It is impossible, of course, to give a detailed description of last night's program, as most of it took place behind locked doors, opened only to Odd Fellows. Most of the residents of Fayette county have known in a general way that the local Odd Fellows were being heard from in a remarkable manner, that their degree team had spent hundreds of dollars and devoted months of patient training to the exemplification of their work, and that they had just grazed first world's honors at the international I. O. O. F. convention at Indianapolis. It is not too much to say, however, that the class of candidates for the first degree from this county, last night, something over sixty, and indeed the lodge, in general, would not have believed such an impressive program possible.

And the most incredible feature of it all was the fact that the roles in the thrilling drama were taken, not by professional actors, but by our own business and professional men—men, whom the community would never suspect of dramatic ability. King Saul, the famous ruler of Israel, is today walking Washington streets in a quiet business suit. His dazzling robes have been laid away in the lodge room locker. The shepherd-king, David, is busy with the details of a large Fayette county business. His sling and harp have been deposited in Temple lodge until he shall again be called upon to slay Goliath and soothe with his music the ravings of Israel's mad king. In the meantime, he is doing his work as one of the most progressive of the younger business men of this city. Prince Jonathan has doffed his helmet and uniform and unbuckled his scabbard and sword, and you will find him going quietly about his work if you should want to locate him away from the degree team. That is the wonderful part of it all—the apparently prosaic, practical business men of our community of the twentieth century, transporting themselves and their audience back to the romantic land of Israel of one thousand years before Christ. Apparently such a transition is impossible. In reality, under the spell of the thrilling drama of the first Odd Fellowship degree, you will find yourself viewing it as one of the most natural things in the world. The reason after all is not hard to find. Brotherhood is as old as mankind—and the spirit of friendship is the same today as it was three thousand years ago. And deep down in his nature, perhaps unsuspected, the call of romance is as strong among the men of this age of commercialism as it was in David age of legend.

Last night at Memorial hall when the degree work had been completed, an hour of inspiring addresses followed from the leading Odd Fellows of the state. It is too bad that these addresses could not have been heard by every citizen of this community. They would have given a new thrill of pride in the possibilities of old Fayette. Incidentally, the greatest compliment possible in Odd Fellowship was paid to our own "Dres" Chaffin—unassuming, quiet-speaking Chaffin, who is the man behind Temple Lodge degree team, the man whose untiring labor and undaunted determination have made its success possible. Mr. Chaffin was publicly suggested as the type of man who would honor Ohio fraternity in the position of Grand Master of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, and the suggestion was cheered with a vigor that showed the sentiment was thoroughly appreciated by the great audience that heard it. As a recognition of his wonderful work the tribute was both graceful and deserved.

One of the most emphasized features of the degree presentation was the masterly playing of Franklin F. Horstman, who presided at the piano during the program. Mr. Horstman is one of that rare type of pianists who gives his work real life and his musical rendering of the story of David contained in turn all of the pathos and fire and thrill of the great drama.

Never was the hospitality of the capital city, a hospitality justly famed through the state, extended more generally or more genially. Columbus Odd Fellows, and the state officers of the order, who co-operated in the welcome to the visitors deserve a hearty vote of thanks, particularly from the Washington delegation, who was made to feel collectively and individually, that Temple lodge was the center of attraction.

There are now over four hundred members in Temple Lodge, with the newly joined class of candidates taken through the first degree last night. It is the ambition of the lodge to make the enrollment 500. The state has long known it to be an honor to be an Odd Fellow. It has come to be a double honor to be an Odd Fellow of Washington C. H.

Vein of Coal Found Near Williamsport

Drillers Putting Down a Well Make Discovery and Tests Will Be Made to Ascertain Thickness of Vein--Geological Formation Unusual in Pickaway County.

The accidental finding of a vein of coal on the farm of I. A. Jones, in Jackson township, four miles west of Circleville, may mean that, that section of the county is rich in this valuable mineral.

Two months ago Mr. Jones employed Steepleton and Edginton, well drillers to drill a well 150 feet from his house, and near the Darby creek road which leads to Fox. The land is about one mile from Darby creek.

The steel drill went through lime stone and shale before it struck slate. As soon as the drill struck coal, the drillers discovered their find and Mr. Jones brought samples of it to this city and showed it to Mr. Henry Schleyer who pronounced it splint coal. The coal was tested and it burned brightly, making a hot fire with no sulphurous flames.

Mr. Jones does not know how thick the vein is, but will test its depth by another hole which is six inches in diameter and is now down in the earth 32 feet. Should a vein of coal of sufficient thickness be discovered, it will prove a bonanza to the farmers of that neighborhood and the whole county.

The geological survey made by the state geologist, J. A. Bownocker and reported in 1910, does not include this county in the coal area of the state. The nearest coal field is in Fairfield county.

The strata underlying the surface in this county as given in the report, is lime stone, maximum depth 56 feet, followed by blue soap stone, clay and slate. The geological formation is silurian, and this is proven by the immense bodies of lime stone. The lime stone steps at the Everts school building which were quarried in this county, are full of shells and outlines of small fish.

An immense body of water at one time covered this area, and during the glacial period kettle holes were formed in the basin of the Scioto by huge bodies of ice. The largest one near the city is the old race ring, in the old fair grounds facing Court street, which attracts students of geology from all over the state.

The passing of the years have glaciers through this section of the nearly obliterated the traces of the county. The finest demarcations that are still to be seen are near Adelphi where huge boulders of sandstone are yet visible and the stone known locally as the Rock House, is a remnant of that cataclysm.

Scientists aver that it was during this period that all the coal was carried out of this portion of the state and pushed east and southeast towards the Ohio river. No great deposits of coal have been found west of the Scioto river, or on a line spitting the state from Portsmouth to the lakes, therefore it is doubtful if Pickaway county has coal in sufficient quantities to make it worth mining.

About twenty years ago a hole was bored into the earth at the Straw Board mills, but there was no indication of coal, although the drillers went down over 2000 feet.—Circleville Union Herald.

108 Chickens Bring $164.16

Frank Weaver, of Selden, was in this city Wednesday, bringing 108 chickens which he disposed of to the Brownell Packing House for the sum of $164.16.

The fowls were capons, averaging eight pounds each, and brought 19c per pound. Mr. Brownell stated that it was the best bunch of capons that he ever purchased in Fayette county. They were of the Buff Orpington and Plymouth Rock breeds, and one of them weighed 10 pounds and 2 ounces.

Mr. Weaver has 60 left. He is the only one in the county who makes a specialty of raising capons, and finds it highly profitable.

Within the next few years the raising of capons will probably develop into a much larger business than at present, as there is an ever increasing demand for the meat of such fowls.

Finger Nearly Torn From Hand

While Homer McCune was engaged in repairing an automobile at the Moore & Jamison garage Wednesday, his finger was caught between the brake and a spoke of one of the wheels, and nearly severed at the second joint.

So badly was the finger lacerated that it hung by the tendons and skin. The finger was dressed and it is believed that amputation will not be necessary.

THE AWFUL LESSON TAUGHT.

The awful tragedy which occurred at Haines' crossing just east of Bloomingburg, on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad on Tuesday afternoon last, is a terrible argument in favor of the complete elimination of the deadly grade crossing.

The fast Pittsburg express, westbound, a great meteor of steel, iron and wood, weighing perhaps one thousand tons, propelling itself through the peaceful country, over its own path of steel, at a space annihilating speed of approximately seventy miles an hour, struck a vehicle in which a happy couple were returning home to a large family, and in a flash two good souls were launched into eternity.

An inquiry into the circumstances, with a view to placing the blame, can result in no good.

What matter who was at fault? Placing the blame cannot bring back the two souls which have fled from the mangled bodies nor give a mother and father to nine human beings, neither can it restore to the community two good citizens who made their neighborhood better by reason of living in it.

It is probably that a better grade crossing than the one at which this terrible tragedy occurred, so far as opportunity to see in both directions along the railroad, is concerned, could not be constructed, but that fact did not prevent an accident which has shocked the county.

Safe perhaps, as it is possible to make one, that grade crossing proved a death trap. They are all death traps and that the day will soon come when Ohio will have no more of them is the prayer of every traveler of the highways.

The one big marvel about it all is that more horrors at railroad grade crossings are not recorded.

Costly as the proof was, it is to be hoped that the authorities will, on their own initiative do away with every grade crossing that it is possible to do away with.

The crossing just at the edge of Bloomingburg near the cemetery is just as dangerous as it is possible to construct and yet it has been allowed to stand year after year—literally a net spread there by death to gather in human lives.

The "cemetery crossing" at Bloomingburg could be very appropriately given that name even if it was not so close to the city of the dead.

Some day there will be an awful horror to record at the "cemetery crossing" unless it is eliminated, and it could be done so easily, and with so little cost too.

As this country becomes more densely settled and the passage of railroad trains become more frequent, their flight more rapid and weight greater, there must be a nation-wide movement to protect people from these awful missiles which death is hurling hourly through the country.

But the people in each community can begin work on their own account without waiting for the nation-wide movement, and better conditions immensely.

The awful tragedy at Haines' crossing writes a red warning to a peaceful, prosperous people, of an ever present danger and warns them to act for their own protection.

Do not allow death-defying conditions to exist without at least expending every effort to either eliminate them entirely or reduce the odds which death holds to a minimum, is the awful lesson paid for with two human lives on Tuesday afternoon.

Cheap Loans to Farmers an Aid to National Progress

By MYRON T. HERRICK, American Ambassador to France

UPWARD of two hundred million dollars a year can be saved by the farmers of this country by the introduction of AGRICULTURAL CREDIT SOCIETIES. The average rate paid for farm loans in the United States is eight and one-half per cent. The average rate paid in Europe is four and one-half per cent. A reduction of four per cent in the interest paid by our farmers on their six billion dollars of borrowed capital would mean a yearly saving of two hundred and forty million dollars.

There is no more important factor in the social and economic progress of the country than the wise development of its AGRICULTURAL RESOURCES. The social importance of successful agriculture primarily is due to the fact that farm life PRODUCES A VIRILE CITIZENSHIP. It is conducive to independent thinking and well considered action.

The stability of our national life and the maintenance of our position as a great force for good among the nations of the world depend upon our ability constantly to IMPROVE THE QUALITY OF OUR CITIZENSHIP.

IF THIS COUNTRY IS TO PLAY THE PART THAT IT SHOULD IN THE PROGRESS OF THE WORLD. IT IS ESSENTIAL FOR US TO ENCOURAGE THAT SORT OF LIFE AND THAT KIND OF INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT THAT PROVIDE THE PROPER ENVIRONMENT FOR A HIGH ORDER OF MANHOOD AND WOMANHOOD.

THINKIN' BACK.

I've been thinkin' back of late!
S'prisin'!—And I'm here to state
I'm suspicious it's a sign
Of age, maybe, er decline
Of my faculties—and yit
I'm not feelin' old a bit—
Any more than sixty-four!
Ain't no young man any more!

Thinkin' back's a thing 'at grows
On a feller, I suppose—Older 'at he gits, I think,
More he keeps a thinkin' back!
Old as old men git to be,
Er as middle aged as me,
Folks 'll find us, eye and mind,
Fixed on what we've left behind.

Rehabilitatin'—like
Them old times we used to hike
Out barefooted for the crick,
'Long 'bout April first—to pick
Out some "warmest" place to go
In swimmin'—Oh! my-oh!
Wonder now we hadn't died!
Grate horse-radish on my hide,
Jes' a-thinkin' how cold then
That 'ere warter must 'a ben!

Thinkin' back—w'y goodness me!
I kin call their names and see
Every little tad I played
With, er fought, er was afraid
Of, and so made him the best Friend I had of all the rest!
Thinkin' back, I even hear
Them a-callin' high and clear,
Up the crick banks, where they seem
Still hid in there—like a dream—
And me still a-paintin' on
The green pathway they have gone!
Still they hide, by bend or ford—
Still they hide—but thank the Lord
Thinkin' back, as I have said,
I hear laughin' on ahead!

—James Whitcomb Riley.

Willis H. Cawley Painfully Hurt

Willis H. Cawley, well known salesman of the Jesse W. Smith department store, is suffering from a very ugly scalp wound sustained by falling against the sharp corner of a doorway.

The wound is above the temple on the right side of the head, and was more than two inches in length, being cut to the skull. The wound bled freely, and it required three stitches to close the gash.

Mr. Cawley has suffered a great deal of pain from the wound and the concussion due to the fall. His escape from a fractured skull was little short of marvelous, as the sharp corner of the doorway was constructed of brick.

SENATORS DOOM FILIPINO HOPES

Bill Granting Independence
Marked For Defeat.

ISLAND STILL UNPREPARED.

O'Gorman Opposed to Fixing Time For Abandoning Control—Says Education May Take Generations—Williams Suggests a Foreign Secretary—Not Coming Up at Special Session.

Washington.—Whatever action may be taken by the house toward granting independence to the Philippines, the attitude of Democratic leaders in the senate makes certain the defeat of any legislation which aims to bring about the relinquishment of control over the islands by the United States in the immediate future. Influential Democrats in the upper house think that the Filipinos as a whole are not yet capable of self government, but there is a difference of opinion as to when they may safely be intrusted with that privilege. The defeat of the Jones bill giving entire control to the islanders within eight years is assured.

SENATOR JAMES A. O'GORMAN.

Senator O'Gorman, who is opposed to fixing any definite time for giving the Filipinos a free hand, takes the view that they may not be equal to the task for one or two generations or even longer. As the senator from New York is close to Governor Wilson, it may be assumed that he has so advised the president elect. The granting of independence to the Philippines is of so little urgency that the question will not even be taken up by the senate at the forthcoming special session of congress, according to Senator O'Gorman.

Senator Simmons, who probably will be chairman of the committee on finance; Senator Martin and other Democratic senators—more than enough to prevent overturning the present system of administering the affairs of the Philippines—are inclined to oppose the Jones bill. Only a few Democrats, such as Senator Johnston, favor giving the Philippines independence at once.

Others, like Senator Gore and Senator Stone, say that the islands should be neutralized, if that could be accomplished, remaining under the protection of the United States, before any step in the direction of autonomy is taken. But the more conservative view that it is best to wait until the educational work undertaken by the United States has shown its effect seems to prevail generally.

The Jones bill granting the islands an independent government within eight years is so far from the minds of Democratic senators that few have considered the question at all.

Senator Williams, who was one of the originators of the so called "bridge government" for the gradual relinquishment of control over the islands, expressed the opinion that the time fixed should not be less than eight years and that the United States should retain a certain control over the relations of the island with foreign governments by the appointment of an American secretary for foreign affairs, who should be responsible to the state department in Washington, and that the granting of independence should not take place for a much longer time than eight years, certainly not less than fifteen.

Senator Martin took the ground that there is no immediate necessity for taking up the Philippine question now. He thought that the Jones bill allowed too short a time for the transition.

In view of the attitude of the leaders in the senate, which undoubtedly has been made known to Governor Wilson, it is not probable that either the executive or legislative department after March 4 will take any step toward abandoning the control of the United States over the Philippines, which, as President Taft said, is so necessary to their own well being.

The South-Western is our most important military line. It skirts the Channel, and has more military stations on it than any other. The road it jointly owns with the Brighton into Portsmouth is the only one in the country that passes through a rampart. # CONTRACTOR AD HAYS SUES CITY FOR $233

Gregg Street Improvement Trouble at Last Gets Into the Courts--Plaintiff Alleges Engineer Failed to O. K. Bill and That Contract Was Carried Out to the Letter.

Contractor Addison Hays, through his attorney, C. E. Baughn, has brought suit against the city of Washington for $233 with interest from December, 1910, alleged to be due the plaintiff for work done on the Gregg street improvement in 1910.

The plaintiff in his petition states that on May 18, 1909, a resolution was passed by council, deeming it necessary to improve Gregg street from North to Forest, and that on August, 1910, John Anders, at that time service director, advertised for bids and the contract was awarded to the plaintiff, who furnished bond and did the work.

The plaintiff further avers that he performed the work in a good and workmanlike manner, carrying out all parts of the contract, and that when he presented his bill for balance due him under the terms of the contract, the bill calling for $233, Tom Grove, then city engineer, neglected and refused to endorse it, and when he (the plaintiff) presented the account to Service Director Anders, he refused and neglected to endorse it because the engineer had not endorsed the bill.

Plaintiff further alleges that he received $2,000 toward paying for the work, and that there is due him the sum of $233 with interest from December, 1910, for which he asks judgment.

In connection with the above case, Attorney Baughn, representing Contractor Hays, has appeared before Council more than once, asking that the affair be adjusted without resorting to a suit, but each time Council claimed it had nothing to do with the affair as the trouble had originated in the service department.

Coping Crumbles Sidewalk Fenced

For some time the top of the concrete block walls of the C. E. Seers Company's Canning factory on Sycamore street has been weathering away and crumbling, and this week the walls became so dangerous that the sidewalk was fenced off so that if the coping fell it would not strike passersby.

Within a short time the top of the wall will be removed and replaced with new blocks and covered in such a manner that the water will not penetrate and freeze and cause the walls to crumble.

The cement block walls are badly cracked in some places, but are not regarded as dangerous, other than the loose blocks of the coping.

GORGAS PLANS PEST WAR.

Back From Guayaquil With Scheme For Cleaning Port.

Washington.—Colonel William C. Gorgas, head of the sanitary work in the Panama canal zone, has presented recommendations for the sanitation of Guayaquil, Ecuador, known for many years as the "pesthole of the Pacific," to Secretary Knox. Colonel Gorgas said:

"I found conditions at Guayaquil similar to those which we met at Havana when we went there some years ago to rid it of fever and infection. There seems to be no reason why Guayaquil cannot be made as safe a harbor from a health point of view as any other. The people there realize the importance of cleaning up if they want to enjoy the benefits to be derived from the commerce of the canal.

"The city has a partial water supply, and the first thing it needs is a pipe line giving a fresh, pure water supply. I found in the hospitals seventy cases of plague, and this would disappear with the yellow fever if better sanitation were secured.

"Guayaquil," added Colonel Gorgas, "is in a strategic position, being the only port in Ecuador to get a large trade from the surrounding upland country, which is thickly populated and rich in resources that will make commerce."

Atlantic City Will Not Pay More Than Once For Cremated Animals.

Atlantic City, N. J.—Hereafter Mayor Riddle declares this city will pay only once for the killing of stray dogs which find their way to the pound and not, as heretofore, several times to line the pockets of "grifters." In the future, the mayor announces, each dog to be cremated will have its tail cut off first. This will be handed over to the secretary, when payment will be made.

The poundkeeper has suggested that as the tail seldom wags the dog and is not therefore indispensable to the canine's existence the city may become one of tailless dogs.

OWNERSHIP OF THE AIR.

Curious Legal Problem Made Prominent by Aviation.

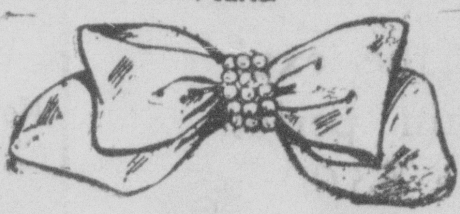

The growing number of airmen are forcing slowly but steadily upon public notice the question of the ownership of the air. If one considers an estate it is evident that fences, walls and so forth are all built to lines diverging, but plumb to the earth's centre. Theoretically, therefore, says the Sphere, it may be said in passing a house is wider at the top than at the bottom. Thus a piece of landed estate is in the form of an immense pyramid inverted and having its apex at the earth's centre and its base anywhere from the earth's surface to any given distance in the illimitable beyond, where Sirius and Canopus or any heavenly body, to say nothing of the moon, can all become conceivable trespassers.

Legally-inclined minds will ask how far precisely does the right of property extend in this pyramid—either upward into space or downward into the earth, and where, if anywhere, does one cease to be a trespasser?

Commenting upon the Aviation act which was passed into law just prior to the coronation, the Law Journal expresses the belief that it is the first attempt by the Legislature of any of the great States to control the right of the flying. "Certainly the attitude taken up toward the new invention in England is diametrically opposite to that obtaining in most continental countries.

"For our part," adds the journal, "we think that the English principle is the better founded because the territorial sovereignty of the State involves aerial sovereignty."

The Right Way to Waken.

There is a right and a wrong way to waken, it appears, and those who do not wake ready not only to rise but to sing with the lark do not know the right way to do it, we are told. The exhaustion with which many, probably the majority—of people waken in the morning is due, says a physician quoted in The London Daily Mirror, to insufficient oxygenation of the blood, caused by shallow breathing during sleep and inadequate ventilation of the sleeping quarters. The remedy is to lie quietly in bed and without any straining practise deep breathing for twenty minutes, first opening the windows, if that was not done on retiring. The next thing is to acquire the habit of deep breathing, so that one will breathe that way unconsciously, not only all day, all night. Then, we are assured will waking become a pleasure. It sounds, and probably is, too good to be true, since man does not live by breath alone.

At the present time Japan is importing $1,500,000 worth of glass each year, and in order to keep the money in the family she is developing the glass works of China.

ILLEGAL KILLING OF SEALS ALLEGED

Action Urged Against North American Commercial Company.

Washington, Jan. 30.—Serious charges reflecting on the integrity of officers of the North American Commercial company, a concern that formerly had the seal killing privilege on the Pribiloff Islands of the Bering sea under a contract with the government, are made in a report filed with the house by the committee on expenditures in the department of commerce and labor.

The committee recommends that the attorney general be requested to institute civil proceedings against Isaac Liebes, the president, to "recover such damages as he and his confederates did to the seal herd of Alaska from 1890 to 1910."

In this connection the charge is made that officers of the North American Commercial company violated its contract with the government by killing male seals under three years of age and females. The committee recommends "that the attorney general be requested to take such steps as may be necessary to collect the bond of $500,000 from the North American Commercial company and the sureties thereon."

"It is held by that honorable body, and there is widespread opinion that the interpretation is sound, that the interest and sinking fund charges do not come within the prescribed maxima, as the act is drawn.

"This violates the basic principle of the law, creates a breach in the limitation and trespasses on the fixed purpose of the people to establish a base of economy in government.

"Present valuations on property were made with a common understanding of the maximum rate of taxation, and any action in departure from this, although made possible by the decision of the court, might be regarded as bad faith upon the part of the state.

"The Smith law may have to be refined by experience, but there will remain nothing to refine if the emancipation stands without legislative repair.

"The budget commissions meet the first Monday in June. Whatever action your honorable body might in its wisdom take should ensue by March 1, in order that it become effective before the date fixed by statute for the beginning of the budget labors."

Was Chief of Alpine Hospices.

Chanoine (Canon) Camille Carron, aged 59, chief of the St. Augustine Order, to which belongs the Grand St. Bernard and Simplon hospices, has died at Martigny, where he recently descended on account of bad health. Canon Carron was in command of the two hospices for the last twenty-five years and during this time saved the lives of hundreds of travelers on the two passes by his wise precautions and entertained free of cost thousands of guests.—London Chronicle.

An Admirer of Mary Queen of Scots.

Theodore Napier, who for eight years brought a wreath from Edinburgh to lay on the site of Mary Queen of Scots's execution at Fotheringhay, near Peterborough, attended or the same purpose recently in full Highland attire. On this occasion, however, he was refused admission to the castle site by the occupier of the farm of which it forms part. Mr. Napier left the wreath on an adjacent ledge, and will abandon the pilgrimage unless the prohibition is withdrawn.—London Evening Standard.

complications which have been forced to public attention because of this case. A noble wife and loyal son stand ready to pay the deficit, conditioned only upon his permitting his wife to return to his home and to maintain that home in decency and honor.

"Your sympathetic expressions do justice to your heart, but they do violence to the facts in this case. General Sikes is being prosecuted by the state of New York for converting to his own use the sum of $23,476. This money came into his hands as chairman of the state monuments commission, to be used among other purposes for the erection of monuments to mark the resting places on the field of Gettysburg of the brave soldiers who fell in defense of their country.

"General Sikes appropriated this amount to his own use. This he has not attempted to deny or to defend, admitting that he took the state's money for private use without authority of law, an act which means stealing. He was given his own time to repair this amount, and that time was extended at his suggestion without any desire to embarrass him. His services can not be overestimated, but even the fame of the soldier must not be used as a cloak or protection for the commission of crime."

"Yes, indeed," replied Mrs. Lynn. "I had one just like it when they were in style."

The Line of Argument.
"Father," said little Rollo, "what is the arctic circle?"
"The arctic circle, my son, is an imaginary line bounding a large area of uncorroborated evidence."

Exactly.
"Uncle George, we are studying synonyms in school, and I want to know the difference between 'cute' and 'sneaky.'"
"According to your mother, it is the difference between what you do and what Mrs. Jones's little boy does."

Quick-Witted Divines.
Dr. P. S. Henson once delivered his lecture on "Fools" at the New York Chatanooga. In introducing him, Bishop Vincent said:
"Ladies and gentlemen, we are now to listen to a lecture on 'Fools,' by one"—(the audience broke into a roar of laughter, and after it had died away, Bishop Vincent added)—"of the most brilliant men in America."
Dr. Henson rose, and with a genial smile said, "Ladies and gentlemen, I am not so great a fool as Bishop Vincent"—(another roar of laughter, after which the speaker added)—"would have you believe."

Going, Going, Gone.
A Park Row auctioneer was begging the crowd for a bid. He pleaded for ten minutes, and then, in desperation, cried:
"For the Lord's sake, will not one give me a bid?"
"A mild-spoken gentleman replied: 'Why, yes, old man, I'll try to help you out. I bid you good night.'"
And the kindly disposed one departed, leaving the auctioneer to the tender mercies of a laughing crowd.

The Theaters

"THE LITTLE MILLIONAIRE."

Hartman Theater, Columbus.
"The Little Millionaire," George M. Cohan's musical comedy, comes to the Hartman theater Thursday, February 6 for three nights and a Saturday matinee. The play is full of the Cohan dash, songs that linger in the memory and a galaxy of girls that can sing and dance. The company is said to be practically the same that appeared in the New York run, except that Mr. Cohan's part is played by Charles King. "The Little Millionaire" is a Cohan novelty in that while the first and third acts are replete with rollicking numbers the second act is a straight farce.

WILLIAM FAVERSHAM'S "JULIUS CAESAR" COMPANY.

Southern Theater, Columbus.
One of the briskest mail order sales in the history of the Southern Theater, Columbus, is in progress for William Faversham's spectacular production of "Julius Caesar," which comes to that playhouse for two evenings only, Wednesday and Thursday, Feb. 5 and 6, with a special Thursday matinee, with a cast of eminent stars, including Mr. Faversham, Frank Keenan, Fuller Melish, Berton Churchill, Miss Julie Opp and a company of 200. Despite the extraordinary calibre of this attraction, there is no advance in prices, the regular 50c to $2.00 scale being in force. From present indications, the engagement promises to be a record-breaking one from a box-office standpoint, and the lovers of the best the English speaking stage has to offer are promised a rare treat in this presentation, which was unanimously proclaimed by the metropolitan critics to be the most notable Shakespearean revival in half a century. Not since the days of Booth, Barrett and Davenport has there been assembled in any permanent dramatic organization a combination of stars possessing a tithe of the histrionic ability as this one of Mr. Faversham's achieving. From a scenic standpoint, the production eclipses in colorful luxuriansness and archaeological correctness and Shakespearean presentation within memory. Mr. Faversham commissioned the late Sir Alma Tadema, the greatest authority upon Roman painting that the modern world has produced, to design the seven massive stage settings, and the settings themselves were painted from the Tadema designs in the London atelier of Joseph Harker, who painted the original "Kismet" scenery. A special and elaborate musical setting for rendition during the course of the performance has been composed by Christopher Wilson and the late Coleridge Taylor, the negro musician

Mammoth Cattle Shipment

Our local shipper, Os Briggs, reports to the Daily Herald that he had a shipment of 21 carloads of cattle and hogs on the Baltimore, Buffalo and Pittsburg markets Monday last.

Included in this shipment were 360 hogs bought from Mr. Frank L. Parrett, of Prairie pike, and all of his own raising and his own feeding.

These hogs averaged a fraction less than 300 lbs. and realized the owner a neat little sum, close to $8,000.

Mr. Parrett is one of the largest and most successful hog raisers in the county.

Is Recovering From Injuries

Russel Tudor, one of the young men injured in a runaway mishap near Good Hope Saturday, is somewhat better, and the attending physicians believe he will soon recover.

The injuries were of an internal character, and since the mishap the young man has been at death's door with the chances of recovery against him, but Wednesday night his condition changed and he is now on the road to recovery.

Dr. Baldwin, of Columbus, and Dr. Herbert Wilson of Greenfield, were called in by Dr. Stemler and a consultation was held Wednesday.

Mr. Tudor is still at the home of Roy Parrett, near Good Hope.

Near Accident At New Building

While the sidewalk was full of pedestrians Wednesday afternoon, a bunch of plank being hoisted to the top story of the new addition to the Cherry hotel broke loose and fell to the sidewalk, and a half dozen persons were almost caught under the falling boards.

It was a lucky escape for those who were passing by, and the need of better protection against a serious accident due to falling timbers or building material, was made apparent. The sidewalk was not fenced off Wednesday during the dangerous work.

Ladies Attention

I am going to New York the last of January merely for the purpose of procuring the latest styles from the fashion folks of this big city; but when I return—which will be in a few days—the New Yorkers will not have anything on anybody in this town, because I will bring back with me

THE LATEST FASHIONS for the new season. My prices will be the same as they have been in the past. Upon my return from the big city, I hope to see all my old friends and also new ones, I will, in the future give them just as good values as I have in the past.

THE HERALD NEWS 40 YEARS AGO

March 15.—The Board of School Examiners, H. H. Edwards, J. B. Priddy and D. C. Eastman, meets at Washington on the third Saturday of every month. Also on the first Saturday from April to November.

We are requested to say that the friends of the Rev. Mr. Bradrick and lady, of the M. E. church, will make them a friendly visit at the parsonage in this village on Wednesday evening. We take the liberty to suggest that the worthy occupants of the parsonage be substantially complimented on this occasion with an abundance of temporal blessings.

John M. Adams, who was at the term of the Common Pleas court, (still in session) tried on an indictment of murder in the first degree, is, as we learn, the first person ever tried in this county for that horrible crime.

Geo. Stewart, president, and W. A. Ustick, Geo. S. Fullerton and James Stitt, trustees, announce that the Bloomingburg academy is now open to pupils, with a full corps of competent teachers.

Also music lessons with the use of the piano or cabinet organ.

Why not spend Monday evening with the Denison Glee club at the Methodist church?

The Present Pastor.

On leaving his study, which is in the rear of the church, the pastor of a church in Kalamazoo saw a little boy, a friend of his, talking to a stranger.

"What was he saying to you, Dick?" asked the divine as he came up to the youngster.

"He just wanted to know whether Dr. Blank was the preacher of this church."

"And what did you tell him?" "I told him," responded the lad with dignity, "that you were the present incumbent."

Five Cars Off At Jeffersonville

Tuesday night five cars laden with coal left the track near the Grass-hopper intersection at Jeffersonville and it required the assistance of the wreck crew and several hours' work to replace the derailed cars.

Bad track is supposed to have caused the pile-up. Fortunately the wreck occurred in a place where the side track could be utilized by other trains in passing, and no delay in traffic resulted.

WETS IN CONTROL

Drafting of Liquor License Code Up to Subcommittee.

Columbus, O., Jan. 30.—The actual drafting of a liquor license code is to be done by a subcommittee of seven members of the house and senate temperance committee of the general assembly, according to the decision of the joint temperance committee today. Both Chairman Welsh and Chairman Greenlund are to be members of the subcommittee. The subcommittee will contain four house members and three senate members. Thus constituted, it is conceded that it will be a committee of wet tendencies and the action of the joint committee, taken only after bitter debate, gives the initial victory in the committee to the wet side.

BIG GRIZZLY BEAR VISITS MOUNTAIN SCHOOL.

Denver, Colo., Jan. 30.—A big grizzly bear ambled into a mountain schoolhouse in Allen's Park, 40 miles northwest of here, while Miss Helen Warren of Jamestown, N. Y., a pretty schoolmarm, was instructing a dozen children. Pandemonium reigned in an instant. Students scuttled to safety under desks and behind Miss Warren, who attempted to look brave and managed to do it until the bear, after a few moments, turned and walked slowly from the building. Miss Warren resigned her position. A man teacher will be engaged to take her place. Miss Warren was brought to Denver suffering from the shock.

to be a man.

The decision was handed down in a test case brought by Henry Goodman against Oscar Redding, a Lucas county justice.

satisfaction. It makes it certain that the Democrats will have a clear working majority in the senate.

The Democratic membership in the next senate is certain to be 49, a majority of one, with the prospect that this majority will be increased by the election of a Democrat in Illinois and possibly one in New Hampshire. In addition to the party strength of the Democrats, the leaders feel certain of receiving support from a number of the Progressive Republicans on tariff legislation and other important measures.

The Republicans now count 32 senators that have always been classed as "regular." This number will be increased by the election of Republican senators from one or more states now in deadlock. It is expected that President Wilson will be able to command the support of the following Progressive Republicans for the passage of his policies relating to the tariff, trust and banking reform: Bristow, Clapp, Crawford, Sterling of South Dakota and La Follette.

Buzzard Freed of Trap.

After a chase of three hours Abram Layton and his son captured one of the largest buzzards ever seen in this section. Attached to the bird's leg was a steel trap and an iron chain three feet long. The buzzard was so emaciated that it could hardly fly with its burden, which it had evidently carried for months, as the wound made by the snapping of the steel trap had entirely healed. The bird did not show fight, but seemed glad to get rid of its burden, and it looked so pitiful that Mr. Layton had compassion on it and set it free.—Dayton correspondence Philadelphia Record.

The Way of a Cat.

A husband and wife of Presque Isle started out to visit some friends who live about three miles from that town. On reaching their destination they were greatly surprised to find their pet house cat hidden under the seat among the horse blankets. While greetings were being passed the cat disappeared. After a short visit and a hurried search the visitors started home. More astonishment than before was their share to find pussy waiting them, as demure as though nothing had happened.—Portland Press.

Stockholm Says Prizes Won by Indian Will Not Be Canceled.

Stockholm, Jan. 30.—The news from New York of the disqualification of James Thorpe, the Carlisle Indian, for Olympic honors, has aroused a unanimous feeling of sympathy here for the great athlete. All the leading men in athletic circles think it will be impossible to cancel the prizes won by Thorpe, as the rules for the Olympic games in Stockholm clearly prescribe that protests against the amateur standing of participants must be made within 30 days after the distribution of the prizes. They consider that the only way of revoking the awards will be for the Amateur Athletic union to demand it at the Olympic meeting at Lausanne, Switzerland, next summer.

and at the same time insure better and fresher products is the purport of a bill introduced in the senate by Senator McDermott of Trumbull county. The bill would prohibit packers from keeping fresh meat, fish, eggs, butter and poultry in cold storage longer than three months.

The senate elections committee favorably reported the Bernstein bill making election day a holiday between noon and 5:30 p. m.

The Hillenkamp bill preferring claims against railroads for labor, personal injuries and damaged freight over mortgages given by the roads, was hotly assailed in the senate and was in danger of shipwreck in the house. It passed the senate 25 to 7. Representative C.
